Discussion: EPISODIC MEMORY AND EVENT PERCEPTION

What are Episodic Memories? Are they really purely declarative?

What is the central problem that Zacks et al feel humans have to solve in order to perceive the world?

How are Events and Episodic memories related?

Does Baddeley's new addition to his Working memory Model actually explain Episodic long term memory?

Is attention processing different with Episodic memory compared To other memories? Why is you think so?

Why does Zacks think event boundaries so important for what is remembered?